

Wright house restoration will be an Arcadia, Valley treasure

Having had the privilege of touring the Arcadia home of Frank Lloyd Wright's son, I must agree (which I often don't) with The Arizona Republic editorial on Friday ("Wright house, right place and the right vision").

Zachary Rawling is doing a beautiful job of restoration on a wonderful house and property which is now, and will continue to be, a Valley treasure.

The neighborhood is lovely and with his help will be even more so. The residents there have everything to gain by his plans and little to lose.

— Sharon Gourley, Scottsdale